

CONTACT: Jeff Erber
enumerate Solutions, Inc.
703.448.0087 x1258

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CCBN and enumerate To Co-Market Interactive Investor Data on the Web

New platform makes it possible to analyze financial data online with point-and-click ease

McLEAN, VA – June 3, 2002 – enumerate Solutions Inc., a developer of numeric presentation software, and CCBN, the leading provider of Internet-based financial communications services, announced today a strategic partnership to co-market their services within CCBN's industry-leading Investor Relations (IR) products.

enumerate's technology speeds and simplifies many tasks commonly performed when analyzing numerical data. enumerate's platform allows end users to perform analysis on data instantly from their Web browser, without first having to download the data into a spreadsheet or other analytical program. By making it faster and easier for investors to examine corporate financials and related corporate data, IR professionals will be able to communicate complex information in a clear, simple way and differentiate their company from others competing for investment capital.

"enumerate's software gives us the opportunity to bring a new capability to investor relations Web sites," said Rob Adler, president and co-founder of CCBN. "In the highly competitive world of communicating corporate information to investors, this is the type of technology that makes a difference. It will enable our customers to more effectively communicate their financial results to their investors, thus unlocking the value in their company."

"We are excited to announce this relationship on the eve of the annual National Investor Relations Institute (NIRI) conference," said Paul Carey, CEO at enumerate. "We launched our products in the investor relations market in the last month, and immediately targeted CCBN as a partner. CCBN is the leader in delivering high quality solutions for companies to communicate their performance to investors and we saw them as the perfect partner for getting our technology into this market. We're looking forward to working with CCBN to provide companies the ability to communicate their financial data in a more transparent way."

About enumerate

Based in Northern Virginia, enumerate is pioneering the development of software products and solutions that will allow users to interactively publish data on the Web. The backbone of enumerate's technology is RDL™, an XML-compliant language which allows numbers to be transported across the Web in their native format and easily graphed, analyzed, searched and displayed with point-and-click ease. With RDL™, users are now able to easily publish numeric data, navigate the Web to quickly locate relevant information, or combine disparate datasets for analysis. For additional information about enumerate products, call 703.448.0087 or visit www.enumerate.com.

About CCBN

Co-founded in 1997 by Jeffrey P. Parker, creator of First Call, and Robert Adler, CCBN is the global leader in enabling direct communications between public companies and the investment community over the Internet. CCBN builds, manages and hosts the investor relations sections of Web sites for more than 2,500 public companies, providing detailed shareholder information through interactive, multimedia solutions. In addition, CCBN hosts live and archived quarterly conference calls for more than 3,000 corporations each quarter. Through its StreetEvents institutional event management database (www.streetevents.com) and partnerships with leading retail financial portals, CCBN has created a revolutionary investor distribution network that delivers an unprecedented body of direct corporate information to the largest collective audience of institutional and individual investors in cyberspace. Headquartered in Boston, MA, CCBN has additional offices in San Francisco and London.

###