RDA and enumerate™ Team Up To Deliver “Interactive” Data Solutions

Revolutionary Format Enables Instant Online Numerical Analysis

Timonium, MD — March 19, 2002 — RDA, an IT services firm, has formed a partnership with enumerate, a Virginia-based software developer, to offer data in a pioneering interactive format that dramatically speeds and simplifies numerical analysis. Under the partnership agreement, RDA will integrate and resell enumerate’s products and technology with RDA solutions.

enumerate’s technology uses the power of the Web to automate many tasks commonly performed when analyzing data. Unlike static data on today’s Web sites, interactive data allows people to create custom charts and tables online simply by clicking their mouse. From a standard Web browser, users can apply instant equations to adjust the data and easily link to charts and tables they create into other presentations.

“enumerate's tools, coupled with RDA's proven ability to provide complex technology solutions, makes this partnership an ideal match for our financial clients,” said Tom Cole, RDA Vice President and General Manager. “Together, we can provide a complete solution for managers who not only need immediate access to data, but require the flexibility of manipulating it for actionable results.”

“Our initial collaboration with RDA in deploying The Economist Intelligence Unit’s (EIU) ‘Worldwide Cost of Living Survey’ online was clearly well-received,” said J. Paul Carey, executive vice president at enumerate. “We’re looking forward to working with RDA to develop other innovative applications that demonstrate the interactive power of enumerate’s technology. “

About EIU's Worldwide Cost of Living Survey

The Economist Intelligence Unit's "Worldwide Cost of Living Survey" is used by human resource and other executives to compare and calculate salaries, allowances, expenses and other business costs. It tracks prices in 130 international destinations for 167 products – ranging from food and clothing to housing rents and business trip costs. A sample of survey data in enumerate's interactive format can be viewed at <http://eiu.enumerate.com>.

About enumerate Solutions Inc.

Based in Northern Virginia, enumerate is pioneering the development of Web-based software that transforms routine numerical data into real-time actionable information. With the company's Numerator! Suite of tools, users can quickly apply interactive analytical techniques to find, view, compare, adjust, and share numerical information – all with point-and-click ease.
